Online booking programs: Can you recommend 2 or 3 commercial, online booking programs for me to review. They are for the booking of science practical activities by teachers (for lab techs) within a senior school?

There are a number of commercial, online booking systems to choose from. Some may be more user friendly than others. Below are some booking systems used by other schools for you to review.

BOOKITLAB

Provides science equipment and laboratory scheduling and inventory management: www.bookit-lab.com

CaRob Computing

Provides software for schools including booking systems and science stock management: www.carobcom.com

SOBS

Provides an online booking service for educational use, for rooming and resources: https://sobs.com.au

Riskassess

Provides a digital system for risk assessments, up-to-date safety information, and allows your team to book equipment and schedule experiments. There are two versions:

Secondary school - https://www.riskassess.com.au/

Primary school - https://www.riskassess.com.au/info/primary_about

Note: Science ASSIST provides these links as a service and does not specifically endorse these products or companies. The companies have now been added to and can be found in our list of School science suppliers.

An alternative is to develop an in-house electronic booking system. Schools have sometimes developed this in conjunction with their school IT staff, although paper request forms still seem to be very popular.
